

Something to Believe in: Creating Trust and Hope in Organisations: Stories of Transparency, Accountability and Governance

By Malcolm McIntosh, David Murphy, Rupesh Shah, Sharon Capeling-Alakija

Greenleaf Publishing. Paperback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, Something to Believe in: Creating Trust and Hope in Organisations: Stories of Transparency, Accountability and Governance, Malcolm McIntosh, David Murphy, Rupesh Shah, Sharon Capeling-Alakija, In a world where trust in politicians, corporations and the processes that determine our lives continues to dwindle, this innovative book brings together research, case studies and stories that begin to answer a central question for society: How we can create organisations, institutions, groups and societies that can nurture trusting relationships with one another and among individuals? Something to Believe In provides a fresh take on the corporate responsibility debate, based as it is on the work of key global thinkers on corporate social responsibility, along with a raft of work developed from collaborations between the New Academy of Business and the United Nations Volunteers, UK Department for International Development and TERI-Europe in countries such as Brazil, Nicaragua, Ghana, India, Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, Lebanon, Nigeria, the Philippines and South Africa. The focus is on business, and particularly how deeper, more systemic changes to current ways of understanding and undertaking business can and have been enacted in both developed countries and in nations where the Western concept of CSR...

Reviews

I actually started looking over this publication. It really is rally interesting throug studying period. Once you begin to read the book, it is extremely difficult to leave it before concluding.
